Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 06 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloudier, slightly less cold on Wednesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Another cold night with a widespread sharp frost developing early. Any showers will die away during the evening, followed by lighter winds inland and largely clear skies. Remaining breezy and bitterly cold near the coast. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Wednesday:
Plenty of morning sunshine on Wednesday. Some cloudier conditions in the afternoon, though remaining dry and bright. Less cold than previous days. A chance of patchy rain overnight. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Breezy and largely cloudy on Thursday, feeling slightly milder. Early rain clearing south to brighter skies and isolated showers on Friday. Early frost on Saturday, then sunny with wintry showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.